Chair's Message

This report provides an overview of the plans and priorities of the Civilian Review and Complaints Commission for the RCMP (CRCC) for the 2015–16 fiscal period. The legislation creating the new CRCC came into force on November 28, 2014.

With its new and expanded authorities, the CRCC will carry out the core public complaint and review functions of the former Commission as well as monitor wider trends and developments in RCMP policy and practice. It will also strategically examine systemic issues which are of concern to the public and which challenge the success of the RCMP and risk eroding public trust in this important Canadian law enforcement institution. The CRCC now also has the authority to conduct joint complaint investigations, reviews and hearings with other law enforcement review bodies. Its new authorities also mandate the CRCC to work more closely with the provinces and territories which contract for RCMP services, and report to them about public complaints relating to RCMP conduct in their respective jurisdictions.

Along with its new mandate and authorities, the CRCC has received additional funding that will allow it to meet the expectations set out in its enabling legislation. To make best use of these resources, the CRCC has examined its structure and processes and identified a number of efficiencies that will reduce back-office costs, enhance its operational processes and ensure that the bulk of its resources are focused on its primary operational objectives. Implementation of these changes is well underway with completion planned by 2015–16 fiscal year end.

As it moves forward, I believe the new CRCC will be in a much stronger position to address the issues that challenge public confidence in the RCMP and will contribute in a more meaningful way to maintaining the critical balance between the RCMP's community policing and law enforcement objectives and the public's expectations on how these can and should be achieved.

Organizational Context

Raison d'être and Responsibilities

The Civilian Review and Complaints Commission for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police is an independent agency created by Parliament and is not part of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP). The Commission's fundamental role is to provide civilian review of the conduct of the RCMP members in carrying out their policing duties, thereby holding the RCMP accountable to the public. The Commission ensures that complaints about the conduct of RCMP members are examined fairly and impartially. Its findings and recommendations help identify and remedy policing problems which stem from the conduct of individual RCMP members or from deficiencies in RCMP policies or practices. The Commission also conducts reviews of specified RCMP activities, reports to provinces which contract RCMP services, conducts research, program outreach and public education, and provides independent observers to investigations of serious incidents involving RCMP members.

Organizational Priorities

Organizational Priorities for 2015–16

Priority	Type ¹	Strategic Outcome
Strengthen the public complaint process	On-going	Public confidence in the RCMP
Description
Why is this a priority? A strong, accessible and timely complaint process with established service standards enhances the credibility of both the Commission and the RCMP. The outcome of a complaint, whether made by an individual or by the Commission Chair, is the formulation of findings which identify both deficiencies and opportunities, and remedial recommendations designed to positively influence RCMP member conduct, policies and/or practices. A robust approach to both the formulation and implementation of findings and recommendations is necessary to ensure continual progress in effecting change and fostering public confidence in the RCMP. The Commission must enhance its capacity to conduct independent investigations where appropriate, gather and analyse relevant data, and track the manner in which recommendations are accepted and implemented by the RCMP. What are the plans for meeting this priority? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> Evaluate, establish and publicly report on service standards for the complaint and review processes. <input type="checkbox"/> Implement service delivery methods that maximize efficiency and effectiveness of the complaint intake process. <input type="checkbox"/> Develop the Commission's Informal Resolution Program in light of recent legislative changes. <input type="checkbox"/> Continue to track actions taken by the RCMP on recommendations contained in public reports, and establish a tracking mechanism for the implementation of recommendations contained in individual reports. <input type="checkbox"/> Enhance the Commission's data collection, statistical integration and reporting functions.

1. Type is defined as follows: previously committed to—committed to in the first or second fiscal year prior to the subject year of the report; ongoing—committed to at least three fiscal years prior to the subject year of the report; and new—newly committed to in the reporting year of the RPP or DPR.

Priority	Type	Strategic Outcome
Strengthen the Commission's investigative capacity	On-going	Public confidence in the RCMP
Description
Why is this a priority? The independence regarding police investigations of police actions continues to be of concern to Canadians. In most Canadian jurisdictions, measures are in place to ensure independent criminal investigations into serious incidents involving police officers. It is equally important that the investigation into and evaluation of police conduct, policy and practice be conducted independently in appropriate situations, and particularly where an incident attracts wide public interest. The authority of the Commission to conduct its own investigations in appropriate circumstances enhances the transparency and independence of the public complaint investigation process in a cost effective way. This contributes to the public's perception of the impartiality of such reviews and investigations and, by extension, its confidence in the RCMP. What are the plans for meeting this priority? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> Reallocate operating budgets to support increased investigative capacity. <input type="checkbox"/> Enhance staff training in the areas of investigation technique and major case management. <input type="checkbox"/> Establish an effective major case management system in support of investigations.

Priority	Type	Strategic Outcome
Introduce specified activity reviews	New	Public confidence in the RCMP
Description
Why is this a priority? Conducting reviews of specified RCMP activities will contribute to the increased transparency and public accountability of the RCMP. The reviews will be supported by independent research and will include systemic examinations of policies, procedures and training, among other issues, and the results will be made public. Specified activity reviews can be undertaken based on any number of criteria, including at the request of provincial ministers responsible for policing where the RCMP provides service under contract. As such, the reviews have the potential to contribute to enhancing RCMP accountability in a number of areas. What are the plans for meeting this priority? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> Conduct consultations with stakeholders. <input type="checkbox"/> Develop a comprehensive planning process, including a research support component. <input type="checkbox"/> Undertake reviews based on a detailed risk analysis. <input type="checkbox"/> Implement the major case management system in support of specified activity reviews.

Priority	Type	Strategic Outcome
Enhance relations with provincial and territorial governments, as well as police and federal review bodies	New	Public confidence in the RCMP
Description
Why is this a priority? In developing a relationship-building strategy, and enhancing appropriate linkages and communication with provincial and territorial governments, the Commission will establish and maintain its role as a strong participant in the field of civilian review of law enforcement. The expanded mandate requires the Commission to report on its activities to provincial and territorial governments. The development of relationships with governments and provincial review bodies will be integral to enabling the appropriate delivery of such reports, allowing their content to be responsive to provincial and territorial needs. This process will assist the Commission in enhancing the accountability and transparency of the RCMP towards the contracting provinces and territories. What are the plans for meeting this priority? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> Conduct regular meetings with provincial and territorial governments, as well as police review bodies. <input type="checkbox"/> Enhance cooperation with other federal review bodies. <input type="checkbox"/> As required, share reports and other information regarding the Commission's activities with provincial and territorial governments as well as police review bodies. <input type="checkbox"/> Develop an annual government relations strategy.

Priority	Type	Strategic Outcome
Increase outreach, public education and engagement efforts	On-going	Public confidence in the RCMP
Description
Why is this a priority? In enhancing knowledge of its role and activities, the Commission will increase the opportunities available to the general public and community stakeholders to access the public complaint process. As the Commission works toward implementing service delivery methods that maximize the efficiency and effectiveness of complaint intake, it will be instrumental to increase and coordinate the Commission's contact with its partners, the public and community stakeholders in order to ensure that those who require or could benefit from information receive it. In pursuing such an engagement strategy and ensuring the appropriate and targeted provision of information, the Commission will strengthen public trust and confidence in the RCMP. What are the plans for meeting this priority? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> Establish annual engagement targets and priorities. <input type="checkbox"/> Identify key community stakeholders and partners, and develop suitable engagement strategies and informational materials for their use.

Priority	Type	Strategic Outcome
Ensure that the most effective and efficient tools and administrative support are in place to facilitate the transition to the new mandate.	On-going	Public confidence in the RCMP
Description
Why is this a priority? To respond to the requirements of its new mandate, the Commission must ensure that its resources are deployed in the most effective and efficient manner possible. Its operational and administrative structures, tools and processes must be focused on supporting the delivery of its priorities. Streamlining business processes and employing strategies and technologies which enhance operational efficiency will reduce the internal services costs. What are the plans for meeting this priority? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> Continue the IT Transformation. <input type="checkbox"/> Deploy a new case management system. <input type="checkbox"/> Continue to streamline business processes. <input type="checkbox"/> Ensure staffing plans are in place to support HR requirements of the new mandate.

Risk Analysis

Key Risks

Risk	Risk Response Strategy	Link to Program Alignment Architecture
RCMP Implementation of Commission's Recommendations As the Commission's recommendations to the RCMP are not binding, there is a risk that key recommendations will not be implemented.	The Commission will maintain its systematic tracking of recommendations made to the RCMP and update the "Outstanding RCMP Policy Commitments" section on its website. The Commission will meet regularly with RCMP officials to discuss the manner and timing in which the Commission's recommendations are being implemented.	Civilian review of RCMP members' conduct in the performance of their duties
Responding to Major Policing Events The Commission has no control over serious incidents between the RCMP and the public. Such events may impact on workloads across the Commission and have the potential to negatively affect the maintenance of service standards.	The Commission has a supply arrangement for specialized investigators, and will continue to track workloads, and, where needed, reallocate staff to priority areas. The Commission must ensure that it has resources available to respond appropriately to any incidents that may arise throughout the fiscal year.	Civilian review of RCMP members' conduct in the performance of their duties

Departmental Spending Trend

The Commission has developed an organizational structure for the new Civilian Review and Complaints Commission that will allow it to operate within its current and future budgets. In 2015–16, 2016–17 and 2017–18 the reduction in spending on Internal Services reflects the impact of implementing cost containment measures. These include reductions resulting from the completion of one-time projects to enhance systems and the realization of operational efficiencies from process improvements and consolidating resources.

Section II: Analysis of Program by Strategic Outcome

Strategic Outcome: Public Confidence in the RCMP

Program: Civilian review of RCMP members' conduct in the performance of their duties

Description

The Commission is an independent agency created by Parliament to provide fair and independent civilian review of RCMP members' conduct in the performance of their duties. The Commission accomplishes this by receiving complaints from the public about the conduct of RCMP members, and monitoring the RCMP's investigation of such complaints. Where a complainant is not satisfied with the outcome of the RCMP's response to a complaint, a request can be made to the Commission for an independent review of the members' conduct and the RCMP's handling of the matter. In reviewing complaints, the Commission may find that it is satisfied with the RCMP's handling of the complaint, or it may make findings and recommendations to the RCMP Commissioner and the Minister of Public Safety with respect to matters addressed in the complaint. The Commission also has the mandate to conduct reviews of specified RCMP activities; report to provinces which contract RCMP services; conduct research, program outreach and public education; and provide independent observers to investigations of serious incidents involving RCMP members.

Enhanced accountability to RCMP contracting provinces	Increased % of contracting partner confidence in the RCMP over a two-year period	1% increase	March 2016

Planning Highlights

Fiscal year 2015–16 is the new Commission’s first full year under its enhanced mandate which includes the existing complaints function, as well as the new authorities to conduct joint complaint investigations, reviews and hearings with other law enforcement review bodies; to conduct reviews of specified activities; to provide enhanced reporting to provinces which contract RCMP services; to undertake research; to conduct outreach efforts; and to provide independent observers to investigations of serious incidents involving RCMP members.

Bill C-42 directs the Commission to establish service standards for the timely handling of public complaints. The Commission has maintained performance-based service standards for each step of the complaint and review process since 2007. New funding will allow the Commission to maintain these standards while adjusting business processes, and implementing new programming and technical support required to meet the expanded mandate and responsibilities prescribed in Bill C-42. The Commission has launched a new case management system which will assist with the tracking of each step of the complaint and review process, and produce business intelligence to identify and address any delays. Tracking complaints and appeals from the RCMP’s initial disposition of the complaint will enhance the ability of complainants, RCMP members and Canadians to hold the Commission and the RCMP accountable for a timely response to public complaints.

Guided by the objectives outlined in Bill C-42, the Commission will work to increase public confidence in the RCMP by enhancing its transparency and accountability to the public as well as to the provinces which contract for its services. The Commission’s strategic approach to achieving this outcome is set out in the priorities outlined in Section I of this report.

Internal Services

It will continue streamlining business processes and employ strategies and technologies which enhance operational efficiency while reducing internal services costs.

Section III: Supplementary Information

Future-Oriented Statement of Operations

The future-oriented condensed statement of operations provides a general overview of the Civilian Review and Complaints Commission for the RCMP's operations. The forecast of financial information on expenses and revenues is prepared on an accrual accounting basis to strengthen accountability and to improve transparency and financial management.

Because the future-oriented condensed statement of operations is prepared on an accrual accounting basis, and the forecast and planned spending amounts presented in other sections of the Report on Plans and Priorities are prepared on an expenditure basis, amounts differ.

A more detailed future-oriented statement of operations and associated notes, including a reconciliation of the net cost of operations to the requested authorities, can be found on the Civilian Review and Complaints Commission for the RCMP's website.ⁱⁱⁱ

Tax Expenditures and Evaluations

The tax system can be used to achieve public policy objectives through the application of special measures such as low tax rates, exemptions, deductions, deferrals and credits. The Department of Finance Canada publishes cost estimates and projections for these measures annually in the Tax Expenditures and Evaluations^{iv} publication. The tax measures presented in the Tax Expenditures and Evaluations publication are the responsibility of the Minister of Finance.

full-time equivalent: Is a measure of the extent to which an employee represents a full person-year charge against a departmental budget. Full-time equivalents are calculated as a ratio of assigned hours of work to scheduled hours of work. Scheduled hours of work are set out in collective agreements.

Government of Canada outcomes: A set of 16 high-level objectives defined for the government as a whole, grouped in four spending areas: economic affairs, social affairs, international affairs and government affairs.

Management, Resources and Results Structure: A comprehensive framework that consists of an organization's inventory of programs, resources, results, performance indicators and governance information. Programs and results are depicted in their hierarchical relationship to each other and to the Strategic Outcome(s) to which they contribute. The Management, Resources and Results Structure is developed from the Program Alignment Architecture.

non-budgetary expenditures: Include net outlays and receipts related to loans, investments and advances, which change the composition of the financial assets of the Government of Canada.

performance: What an organization did with its resources to achieve its results, how well those results compare to what the organization intended to achieve and how well lessons learned have been identified.

performance indicator: A qualitative or quantitative means of measuring an output or outcome, with the intention of gauging the performance of an organization, program, policy or initiative respecting expected results.

performance reporting: The process of communicating evidence-based performance information. Performance reporting supports decision making, accountability and transparency.

planned spending: For Reports on Plans and Priorities (RPPs) and Departmental Performance Reports (DPRs), planned spending refers to those amounts that receive Treasury Board approval by February 1. Therefore, planned spending may include amounts incremental to planned expenditures presented in the Main Estimates.

A department is expected to be aware of the authorities that it has sought and received. The determination of planned spending is a departmental responsibility, and departments must be able to defend the expenditure and accrual numbers presented in their RPPs and DPRs.
